Twenty-Third Sunday in Ordinary (Year B)
4th & 5th September 2021

Dear Friends,

The man in today's Gospel, suffers from a speech impediment as well as from deafness and the opening of his ears is the first step in his recovery of clear speech. The evangelist, like the modern speech therapist, knew that clear speaking depended on being able to hear clearly. Communication problems often arise because what we think we are saying is not quite the same thing that our conversation partners are hearing. It might be that the cure of deafness we must need is to hear ourselves with the ears of the other. That means not simply attending to the words we use, but to the tone, to the body language, whether we seem to be stonewalling or whether our whole bearing says that we are people who want to communicate. The recent history of Northern Ireland for instance, provides an extraordinary example of how divided people began to get the courage to listen and to speak to one another. They stopped shouting past each other and unimaginable change began to take place. The Good Friday Agreement resulted.

REFLECTION: Silence can sometimes be the best preparation for listening. It helps us to become aware of all of the things which block our communion with one another. As we savour the presence of the Lord with us, we remember that he opened the ears of the deaf and made the dumb speak. May this moment of holy communion with him and with each other prepare us for the times in the week ahead when we will need to listen to one another with the mind and heart of Christ.

God Bless and Keep Safe,
Father Maurice

Mass Books

We are now, with the approval of the diocese Health and Safety advisers, in a position to distribute mass prayer books. At the present time, we shall only be doing this at the Saturday evening mass and the two Sunday masses. These books will either be on the bench or distributed on entry if you require one. At the end of each mass the books will be placed in secure boxes and will only be used again at the same mass on the following weekend. This will ensure that the books are not used again within 72 hours (recommended quarantine time). Further consideration as to the use of hymn books and prayer books for week day masses is on going and will be addressed as soon as possible"

Pro Life - Today we celebrate the feast of St Mother Teresa of Calcutta, patron saint of the pro-life movement. We ask for her intercession as we, the church, seek to support all pregnant mothers through their pregnancies, and that, like her, we would become models of support and charity to all in society. Lord hear us".

Baptism

We welcome in to the family of the Church George Formosa who was baptised in our parish last Sunday. Congratulations and every blessing to the family.
